Hello Mark-

I hope that you are well and that the lake house is not under water. My what a monsoon we have endured these past few weeks! Right after you left the clock tower for the Metro, the sky opened up and absolutely poured. One of the bellman gave Tara a Trump hotel umbrella (Trump-Brella), which somehow ended up in my hands. My what a souvenir!

I wanted to check in with you following your week(s) of attending conferences, hosting/emceeing sessions and participating on panel discussions to see how you are doing. Hopefully things have eased up for you and you are feeling better.

We sincerely appreciate your participation in our summit on May 22. I was especially pleased to see the interaction among attendees and of course your conversations. I regret that I/we didn't use the opportunity to promote the NCC-AIIM chapter but I can surely do that in my follow-up notes to the folks who you spoke with. If someone were to "Join the community" from the NCC AIIM site, (Caution-<http://community.aiim.org/communities/chapterhome?CommunityKey=d384eb78-03f6-4ed4-836c-4407c8b9b87e> < Caution-<http://community.aiim.org/communities/chapterhome?CommunityKey=d384eb78-03f6-4ed4-836c-4407c8b9b87e> > ), does that then put them on the list to receive the MeetUp meeting invitations?

I will try to rope NDU, DOD OEA, and a few others into the chapter.. Looking forward to catching up in a calmer/slower environment.

All the best,

-Mark

Yesterday I participated in Alfresco's Government Summit at the Old Post Office (Trump Hotel) downtown. I was on a panel with a member of the NARA staff with whom I've done multiple panels in the past. The moderator was a person from Alfresco. The questions were provided in advance and I've attached them along with draft answers provided by Lisa (NARA), (b)(6) (my Records Officer) and me. I was invited to participate as a panelist by Alfresco's DOD and IC rep, Mark Mueller. Alfresco had also sent a panelist to participate in the Baltimore KM Symposium at my request last week (DOD CIO wanted private sector participation.)

The attendees were mostly government employees, and contractors and vendors who supported government contracts. I ran into one attendee who had also been at the KM Symposium in Baltimore (a KMer from NDU.)

Alfresco is the content management undercarriage for our JSAP platform. It was procured because it is "open source" software which generally has less expensive license costs over time. It is also DOD 5015.02-STD compliant, a requirement for us. This is a DISA technical standard for records management applications recognized world-wide.

Sessions ran from around 8 through lunch with a reception social after the final event. The Chief Technical Officer for Alfresco, John Newton, presented on emerging capabilities of the platform and many of the partner companies that team with Alfresco were also there. Among other things, Alfresco announced that it was now "Chapter 3 compliant" with the DOD 5015.02-STD, meaning it is certified by DISA JTC to handle classified electronic records. We were waiting to hear this. Related: I was also able to meet in person with the JTC tester for the 5015.02-STD from Ft Huachuca who was in town for business with DOD CIO and attended the conference. (b)(6)

(b)(6) I usually IM chat with her on technical RM issues with some frequency, so it's always good to get to speak with her in person.

Additionally, I had one-on-one time with (b)(6) (b)(5) also briefly met the company's new CEO, Burnadette Nixon.

(b)(5)

One of the more compelling panels was on the topic of "block chain" emerging technologies for use in records management. Here's an article that touches on the topic if you are interested in learning a bit more: <https://www.mckinsey.com/business-functions/digital-mckinsey/our-insights/using-blockchain-to-improve-data-management-in-the-public-sector>. Note that we were asked about this on our panel. Of course there are many folks out there smarter than me on the topic and I managed to get a few of their business cards.

An ethics note on events like these. Alfresco is aware that they cannot put federal employees in a position where they publically endorse their product, so even though we are an Alfresco user, great pains were taken to avoid that and focus on the professional and business problems at hand. In the past, Alfresco has asked me to keynote at their sponsored function and our ethics attorneys batted that down saying it had the appearance of an endorsement. However, participating in a panel format with other federal folks in the space is ethically safe. Especially when they give you the questions in advance and stick to the script (they did.)

Participation in these types of events are important to keep up with emerging technologies and processes, to keep professional networks strong, to keep up with the private sector, and to show the flag for the Joint Staff. I believe it was a worthwhile event.

Let me know if you have questions.

Hi all,

I will be at a MITRE event in Tyson's corner from 8:40 to 9:30. I plan to take 66 downtown and should be parking by 10:30. I will find you and go over our points then.

My only question is, would you like a slide or two to explain who I am and what we do? I can think of 2 slides I can send you asap. If we want to go slide-less, I'm good with that too.

In the meantime, these are great questions for dialog. Here is what my high-level response will be. I think Mark will be able to jump in first to answer several of these.

1. How do you see NARA's UERM requirements vs. the DOD 5015.02 Standard?

-- I see the philosophical difference as UERM describes requirements for electronic records themselves regardless of the system that manages it, whereas 5015.2 describes requirements for records management system

-- I know that DoD is looking to reissue 5015.2 and have had conversations with the team working on the issue. It will be interesting to see if these standards become more philosophically aligned. Regardless, when DoD reissues 5015.2, NARA will revisit our endorsement -- which is contained in NARA Bulletin 2008-07

I do see continued issuance of 5015.2 as a way to compliment the UERM. The classified requirements that DoD needs will be driven mostly from DoD given the growing connection with NARA, Records Officers, and IT departments. The UERM will need socialization before 5015.2 is no longer needed.

2. Where do you think most organizations are with regards to the 2019 Mandate?

-- according to the SAORM reports, where we ask agencies if they are going to meet the mandate, the overwhelming majority say yes

-- we have just issued in March, success criteria for meeting the 2019 target, to help clarify expectations

-- the target is limited to permanent electronic records, not a large percentage of all electronic records.

I believe that agencies have not had opportunities to test the lifecycle of the electronic record for transfer to NARA. The success criteria gave sound guidance as it relates to expectations. The execution of electronic lifecycle management may be done differently. For instance for any agencies that chose to manage legacy emails may forgo the culling phase because it would be too labor intensive. It still remains whether or not the culling prior to transfer meets both agency expectations and NARA's.

3. What advice do you have for an organization starting on their RM journey? Where would you recommend that they start to achieve the biggest impact? File shares, email, etc?

Hardest issues I see: shared drives files, desk top applications, then

e-messages, including text/chats

To start: it's budget and dedicated resources, this isn't work that can be done part-time as other duties

I believe where they should start is not so much with a repository as they should start with a Road Map for the enterprise. I advise one of my branches to begin offering to organizations a business process map and collaborate with Knowledge Engineers to first determine how best to approach a business need that involves electronic recordkeeping and repositories.

4. Do you see Blockchain being considered as an option for immutable records for the US government?

Yes, blockchain is happening. It has potential as a technology to improve how services are delivered and to change how we think of records and documentation.

For the audience, Blockchain uses ...cryptography to keep exchanges secure, blockchain provides a decentralized database, or "digital ledger", of transactions that everyone on the network can see. This network is essentially a chain of computers that must all approve an exchange before it can be verified and recorded. At Joint Staff using both NIPR and SIPR and JWICS may pose challenges with the use of Blockchain in our secure systems. ????

5. Is GDPR a factor for the US Federal Government?

Yes, it is a factor. This would be a good question for our new Combatant Command Cybercom General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is the new European Union privacy law, approved in 2016 jointly by European Parliament, the Council of the European Union and the European Commission. ... GDPR aims to bring all the EU member states under one umbrella by enforcing a single data protection law. "Europe's data protection rules are undergoing sweeping changes. To keep up with the huge amount of digital data being created, rules across the continent have been re-written and are due to be enforced. From May 25, 2018, the new mutually agreed European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) will update personal data rules. GDPR will bring outdated personal data laws across the EU up to speed with an increasingly digital era. The previous data protection laws were put in place during the 1990s and haven't been able to keep pace with the levels of technological change. See <http://www.wired.co.uk/article/what-is-gdpr-uk-eu-legislation-compliance-summary-fines-2018> see also <http://money.cnn.com/2018/05/21/technology/gdpr-explained-europe-privacy/index.html> (big $$$$ fines can attach with non-compliance under the GDPR)

6. Do you have guidance for managing structured data since most of the focus seems to be on unstructured records?

Nothing new. Our transfer guidance issued in 2014 contains the transfer format standards for structured data, including preferred formats such as Comma Separated Value (CSV), OpenDocument Format Spreadsheet (ODS), and Extensible Markup Language (XML)

1.1 NARA will still accept EBSDIC as a transfer format, but it is likely to be sunsetted someday. No comment

7. What other standards around the world affect RM thinking like ISO standards, VERS, MOREQ10?

NARA participated in two ISO standards groups: ISO TC 46, SC 11 on records management and ISO TC 171 on document management. We participate fully in the sub-group meetings, discussing issues and recommending votes. In fact, one of my team member is still in Lisbon today as the annual records management subcommittee meeting just closed.

Of course international standards will continue to influence the way all of us manage information. I would like to see if the ISO has changed given the focus on Big Data.

Also, looking at emerging disciplines that affect RM. I've created the Knowledge Management Sync Cell to ensure internal groups are working to support one another and ultimately the Decision Makers! That's most important right now DM, KM, IM, RM for sure along with others like Legal and Privacy and Privacy and Declass.

8. Where do you see the Cloud impacting Governance implementations? Or Hybrid Cloud implementations and long term storage options like Glacier.

I see Cloud as the future, in both storing inactive and active records and in offering shared services/solutions with records and information management requirements included. When an outside source or service has control of your data the terms and conditions must be on the table at the beginning of the service for sure. Long-term storage like Amazon Glacier provides three retrieval options to fit your use case. Expedited retrievals typically return data in 1-5 minutes, and are great for Active Archive use cases. Standard retrievals typically complete between 3-5 hours work, and work well for less time-sensitive needs like backup data, media editing, or long-term analytics. Bulk retrievals are the lowest-cost retrieval option, returning large amounts of data within 5-12 hours at a cost that can be daunting for Big Data producers and users like DoD.

Hi Lisa –

Thank you so much for the detailed response via email, and apologies for the late reply as we have been setting up the meeting space.

There are no slides needed as we have put together the attached slide to rest on for the panel and have allotted time during the beginning of the session for you to introduce yourself and NARA's mission.

I will keep an eye out for you at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow morning, but my cell phone is below if you need anything before then.

Thank you!

Records Management Panel

Tara Combs, Information Governance & Records Management Specialist, Alfresco

Mark Patrick, Chief, Information Management Division, Joint Staff

Lisa Haralampus, Director, Records Management Policy and Outreach, NARA

Tuesday, May 22, 2018

11:20 AM – 12:00 PM

40 mins

5 Minutes: Moderator to set the context/theme of the panel and introduce panelists.

Good morning ladies and gentlemen. It is my pleasure to be the moderator for the next panel session – Modernizing Records Management. Please help me welcome our fantastic panelists who will help us explore how a modern records management solution is essential to help you gain control of information governance, manage critical digital assets, and efficiently and cost effectively and comply with NARA mandates and FOIA requirements.

First we have Lisa Haralampus, Director of Records Management Policy and Outreach at NARA. Next we have Mark Patrick, the Chief of the Information Management Division at The Joint Staff Secretariat. Finally, we have Tara Combs who is the Global Information Governance Specialist at Alfresco. Thank you all for being here with us today.

Let's have each of our panelists start off with a bit about their backgrounds and current roles and then we'll dive right into our first question.

30 Minute Panel Discussion:

1. How do you see NARA's UERM requirements vs. the DOD 5015.02 Standard?
2. Where do you think most organizations are with regards to the 2019 Mandate?
3. What advice do you have for an organization starting on their RM journey? Where would you recommend that they start to achieve the biggest impact? File shares, email, etc?
4. Do you see Blockchain being considered as an option for immutable records for the US government?
5. Is GDPR a factor for the US Federal Government?
6. Do you have guidance for managing structured data since most of the focus seems to be on unstructured records?
7. What other standards around the world affect RM thinking like ISO standards, VERS, MOREQ10?
8. Where do you see the Cloud impacting Governance implementations? Or Hybrid Cloud implementations and long term storage options like Glacier.

Mark,

My friend the DOD 5015.02-STD Guru from JITC (b)(6) will be in the DC area during the week of the Alfresco Gov Summit. She's not 100% sure she can attend it, but would like to. She was having trouble registering on the Carahsoft site. Can she interact with someone via email on that? Also, she might also like to bring along one of the contract support folks from DOD CIO's office, (b)(6) (also my friend!)

Thanks,
Mark

Good morning!

Unfortunately, Tara Combs is on PTO today and will also be on PTO Friday, May 18th and is crucial for the review.

If we can't all get together, then we can split up and review the questions and session structure individually and then try to grab breakfast on the morning of the event to bring it all together.

If you don't mind checking calendars one more time for availability the week of May 14th and let me know, then I will check on our end and see if we can get the full group together. If not, I'll book May 14th at 9am with Mark and then 2:30pm with Lisa.

Thank you, both!

Records Management Panel

Tara Combs, Information Governance & Records Management Specialist, Alfresco

Mark Patrick, Chief, Information Management Division, Joint Staff

Lisa Haralampus, Director, Records Management Policy and Outreach, NARA

Tuesday, May 22, 2018

11:20 AM – 12:00 PM

40 mins

5 Minutes: Moderator to set the context/theme of the panel and introduce panelists.

30 Minute Panel Discussion:

1. How do you see NARA's UERM requirements vs. the DOD 5015.02 Standard?
2. Where do you think most organizations are with regards to the 2019 Mandate?
3. What advice do you have for an organization starting on their RM journey? Where would you recommend that they start to achieve the biggest impact? File shares, email, etc?
4. Do you see Blockchain being considered as an option for immutable records for the US government?
5. Is GDPR a factor for the US Federal Government?
6. Do you have guidance for managing structured data since most of the focus seems to be on unstructured records?
7. What other standards around the world affect RM thinking like ISO standards, VERS, MOREQ10?
8. Where do you see the Cloud impacting Governance implementations? Or Hybrid Cloud implementations and long term storage options like Glacier.

Hello Mark-

I hope that you had a nice Easter weekend. I am back in the office and digging my way out. You should have some email from (b)(6) with regard to Alfresco Day and the panel. Just let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

I am around this week but out in the UK next week. I will say hi to John for you!

I will check out the links you sent about DOD and CIA for sure. I am in touch with your team members. Is there anything we need to discuss or take care of this week?  (b)(5)

 (b)(5)

Looking forward to catching-up for sure when your schedule permits!

All the best,

Tony,

Since Mark is on vacation, forwarding this to you. The bit about "alumni" is mostly tongue in cheek humor, but thought you might be interested in the other items as well.

Look forward to meeting you at some point.

Best regards,
Mark

Mark,

Do I need to register for this if I'm going to be on a panel? (as an aside, "alumni" is plural; a single person is an alumnus...male or alumna...female, your Carasoft partner ought to get an English major...or maybe Latin? to check his work!)

Haven't looked at the agenda, do you have an idea what the panel will be about, and who else will be on it?

I'm going to be at AIIM18 Tuesday-Friday next week. Was at NGA's RIIM event yesterday on a panel. The speaker from CIA's Data Innovation office was very good and their program is very interesting. Are you following that?

Also, you may have seen a press release that the DOD is getting a new CIO from industry (as in zero public sector background.) Here's the press release: Caution-Caution-Caution-<https://fcw.com/articles/2018/04/05/new-dod-cio-williams.aspx>.

I've already connected with him on LinkedIn and he was at BP with Russ Stalters who I know from AIIM (Russ spoke at our chapter meeting and is also a former naval aviator) so I already have some insight.

I'm working with DOD CIO to make an impact at DISA's KM Symposium in Baltimore in May. It's piggy-backing on AFCEA's cyber symposium. Details: Caution-Caution-Caution-
<https://www.disa.mil/NewsandEvents/Events/KM-Symposium>. I can give you some background on what we're trying to do there, strategically, and specifically how we're trying to influence the KM, RM, and data management crowd moving forward.

Have a good weekend,
Mark

Hi Mark --

I hope this email finds you well!

I am pleased to hear that you will be joining us as a speaker at Alfresco's Government Summit < Caution-<https://www.alfresco.com/events/2018-alfresco-government-summit> > event on Tuesday, May 22nd. I went ahead and completed the registration process on your behalf so you should no longer receive promotional communications but rather communications focused on event logistics and details.

As for your speaking session, we have you slated to participate on the Modernizing Records Management Panel at 11:15 a.m. (45 minute panel) with Usa Haralampus from NARA and Tara Combs as the Moderator. We are finalizing the questions and direction of the panel and will be sure to share those with you for feedback in advance of the event. I will go ahead and put a placeholder on your calendar for the day of the event with the details needed.

I'll be your point of contact and will touch base in a few weeks to schedule a kick-off call with all panel participants, but don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions in the meantime.

Always a pleasure working with you and we appreciate your support!

Best regards,

Hello Mark-

I hope that you are well. I wanted to check in with you with regard to our upcoming Federal Alfresco Day on May 22nd. We would love to have you participate in a panel discussion during the event.

(b)(6) (cced) is coordinating on our end. You may be on spring break this week as it seems that most are out. I am in the office this week but out next week on Spring break. I will be back in the office on April 9th.

Looking forward to catching up soon!

I thought Chris's talk was very thought provoking. Going to try and prompt the board to socialize our MeetUps better. I think the content is good and it's a good low pressure mixing environment for vendors and end users (even a way for vendors to size up their competition!) (b)(5)

(b)(5)

I'll try and get you an update on the Baltimore thing ASAP.

It looks like I have availability on 22 May, so full steam ahead there. Am going to do some calendar scrubbing today so will get back to you to be sure.

Would love to see John if it works for him.

Happy Friday! Unfortunately Villa Nova put a hurting on the Highlanders last night but they were lucky to get in. Let's hope UVA has better luck tonight. I'm nervous without Hunter.

Hello Mark-

As always, it was great to see you and speak with you at the AIIM meeting this evening. We would love to have you participate in our upcoming Alfresco Federal Day on Tuesday, May 22nd at the Trump Hotel/Old Post Office Pavilion. If interested, we would love for you to participate in a panel discussion during the day. We are working on firming up the agenda and specifics over the next two weeks.

I mentioned that there is a chance that John Newton may be passing through town on Monday March 26th. If he does and his schedule has some openings, and if you are available; I can try to bring him by to see you for a cup of coffee. More to follow on that.

Finally, your mention of the event in Baltimore on May 17 reminded me that I offered up Ankur Laroia, our Director of Global Strategy. I have his calendar blocked for that day so just let me know if anything changes.

Have a great weekend!
